CITIZENS COMMENTS

Phillip Rozeman came before the Commission and gave the following comment:

Thank you. I'm Dr. Phillip Rozeman. I'm a physician, a cardiologist here. I was co-chair of the 2030 Caddo Shreveport Master Plan and currently I'm a board chair of the Louisiana Committee of 100 for economic development. Okay, Phillip Rozeman, 510 Long Leaf Road, Shreveport, 71106. I wanted to talk today just a moment on what's happening in our state in a positive way, which is I've watched what's happening around the state with the Louisiana Committee of 100 and our work with Louisiana economic development. There's tremendous potential that's going in this state that is something I've never seen in my 69 years here on this earth, and I think there's a real opportunity associated with that. Let me, I just wanted to take a second to talk about the context. You know, Shreveport's gone through a lot of changes and a lot of different ways to improve our economy over time. And, this is, I think we're moving into the era of technology of Amazon and the possibility of the data centers. I want Shreveport to reach its great potential, and I've been working on that in my little way for a long time, and I see that we may have a chance here to advance, like all of the rest of the areas of the state, the regions of the state. And I wanted to state in support from a business viewpoint the positivity that can be brought by the technology and the data centers. I just want to close with just a quick story that sums this up for me. You know, we don't always get looked at in Louisiana as the first place to go for people to bring business. It's just a fact. It's something that we've dealt with a long time in this state. But I head a story, I was talking to the CEO of Entergy, which is the South Louisiana SWEPCO, the energy company, and he said that Meta over in northeast Louisiana came to talk with them, Louisiana wasn't even on the list of the possibilities of having data centers here with Meta. But they found, Meta found, a group of people with government and business working together like they had never seen before, and rapidly were able to break down barriers to meet the needs to make this happen. And that's really a story about Louisiana that they tell now all over the country. But this is an opportunity. I'll just close with this. I think it's an opportunity and as you all begin to vote on different things related to making that happen, I hope you'll think about the long term and keeping families here and attracting people here, the same thing that you've wanted just like me for a long, long time. And so, I thank you very much for what you do. I know it's a hard job and I appreciate your support of things moving forward.

William Bradford came before the Commission and gave the following comment:

Good afternoon, members of the Commission, Madam Chair. William Bradford, 333 Texas Street, Suite 700, Shreveport, Louisiana. I wanted to start off and just say that I appreciate each and every one of you and the decisions you have to make related to Resolution 46. I'm here in support of that resolution for a number of reasons, one of which is that I am a citizen here, I'm a professional in this community, I'm an investor in this community, a small business owner. Been in Shreveport since 2009 when I returned to practice law. I sat in leadership here in the City of Shreveport as the city attorney and I've watched opportunities come, I've watched opportunities go. I've learned that sometimes we don't take the steps we need to take in order to be prepared for good things to happen to us. And so, we have an opportunity today to do just the opposite, to go forward with progress and to really set the tone for what we expect of those who invest into our community. When I was city attorney, I sat right there where Commissioner Atkins is sitting. Today this is a little different. And I watched as a development proposal, that was well-funded and well-intentioned, failed. And the Benson organization and corporate realty from Birmingham, Alabama walked out of the door with a $140 million investment, because we didn't do a good job communicating and we didn't do a good job collaborating. So often we have a tendency to want to draw our lines in the sand, stand on our sides of the fence, and say "this is what it's going to be", instead of reaching towards the middle and finding compromise. And so, with that, Birmingham saw the error of our ways, took that team in, and last year that facility that was built to accommodate them hosted the NCAA Women's Tournament. They've seen consecutive growth in that market. That was an opportunity lost. When I was city attorney, I also had an opportunity to author legislation for 5G deployment. There was opposition there, but the council took bold steps and adopted legislation that allowed for our service in the community to be improved. As a practicing attorney in private practice, I helped to develop a solar farm in north Caddo Parish, and there was some contention there. But what we did is we sat down with the developer and with the community, specifically Fire District number 8, Chief Joey Ryan, he'll tell you the story. And we asked, "What do you need?" I represented the developer. And they told us and that developer made an investment in that community that helped retire debt on all the fire trucks in that community. We have that type of opportunity here. And as a community, we have to be inviting to new development. We drive the train. We sit with these people and they have to do a better job sitting with us. But ultimately, what you're voting on today opens the door for so much more, so much more capital investment, job creation, and opportunities for us to grow as a community. So, I implore you, please, please pass Resolution 46. Thank you. 48, excuse me 48.

Robert Lawrence came before the Commission and gave the following comment:

Hi there. My name is Robert Lawrence. My address is 618 Cumberland Drive, Shreveport, Louisiana, 71106. I won't spend most of that time. I'm actually here not to address any of you, but to address the people in this room. All of these people behind you work for you. And right now, they are trying to pass a financial agreement that was not uploaded to their agenda within only the last hour. Several people on this council and the city council have signed non-disclosure agreements, meaning that they are not telling you who is coming to Shreveport, what they plan to do with this land, what type of data will be housed on this facility, and most importantly, what you, the people, who all these people are supposed to represent and fight for, will receive. And let me tell you this deal is hidden in secret for a reason. It is hidden in secret because, as the kind doctor mentioned earlier, this is an agreement between government and business. It is not an agreement between government and the people, and the people are who government is supposed to represent. Now, many speakers will speak to the vast issues that come with data centers that will come with these proposed constructions, the harm it will do to local communities. But I'm here to tell you that you all must get together with your friends, your family, your co-workers, your neighbors, and come to every meeting, every city council meeting, the further Commission Parish meetings, the municipal planning meetings, and any other assemblies where they will debate this issue because the only way we will defeat this project is through people power. And that means coming here, speaking. It means organizing in the streets and it means voting people who support this project out of office. You need to go to Louisiana Secretary of State's website, Google these people's names, figure out when they're up for re-election, and start organizing against them. This is the only way we will stop this corrupt business deal that is still shrouded in secrecy. It is the only way we will be able to reclaim the government for the people which the government is supposed to represent. Ask any founding father, they are rolling in their graves as they see backroom deals with undisclosed technology companies. It could be ChatGPT's suicide chatbot. It could be Meta's child sexualization chatbot. Whichever it is, there's many more options to choose from. This is a bad deal for the people of Louisiana. It is a bad deal for the citizens of Shreveport. And these people currently are not working for you. They are working for moneyed interests. The same people who provide money for their campaign, fund with their donations. And you, the people must stand against it. Thank you.

Abby Whittington came before the Commission and gave the following comment:

Hello, I'm here to speak against Resolution 48. Abigail Whittington, 654 Columbia Street. Like I said, I'm not going to echo all the things that are wrong with data centers again, because I was here yesterday whenever we voted on this, yesterday. And I called y'all's office about an hour ago, and y'all told me that this will not be voted on today, and then I called again 30 minutes later and then y'all told me it would be voted on again today. So, who knows what's going on here? Anyone? Nobody? Didn't think so. Please think about your community members whenever you vote today. Please. This is going to affect all of us for the rest of our lives and we will remember all of you, and we will vote you out. Thank you.

It was moved by Mr. G. Young, seconded by Mrs. Gage-Watts, to take the agenda out of order and address Resolution No. 48 of 2025, a resolution approving annual payments in lieu of tax in accordance with one or more term sheets between the Northwest Louisiana Finance Authority and qualifying entities; and otherwise providing with respect thereto. Motion carried unanimously with Commissioner Kracman being absent.

It was then moved by Mr. Atkins, seconded by Mr. G. Young, that Resolution No. 48 of 2025, a resolution approving annual payments in lieu of tax in accordance with one or more term sheets between the Northwest Louisiana Finance Authority and qualifying entities; and otherwise providing with respect thereto be adopted.

Mr. Atkins spoke in support of his motion, emphasizing the economic significance of the proposed pilot program. He stated that the initial phase of the project is projected to involve approximately eight billion dollars in construction costs, which would generate thousands of temporary construction jobs, followed by several hundred permanent positions. Mr. Atkins further noted that the project could result in substantial water purchases from the City of Shreveport's Department of Water and Sewer, contributing to funding needed infrastructure upgrades. He added that the project would significantly increase revenues for multiple entities, including the City of Shreveport, Caddo Parish, the Caddo Parish School Board, and the Sheriff's Office. Mr. Atkins characterized the proposal as a clear economic opportunity and urged support for new ventures that strengthen the community and tax base.

Mr. G. Young, as seconder of the motion, was then recognized. He stated that while he would have more to say on the matter in his role as Chair of the Economic Development Committee in the future, he wished to offer context regarding the broader economic landscape. Mr. G. Young discussed the rapid growth of artificial intelligence and data centers, noting that AI is already deeply embedded in the economy and is driving unprecedented levels of market valuation. He referenced the widespread presence of data centers across the United States, including significant concentrations in Virginia, and explained the role such facilities play in supporting cloud-based technologies and digital communications. Mr. G. Young acknowledged generational concerns surrounding technological change but compared current apprehensions to historical resistance to innovations such as the automobile, which ultimately became indispensable despite known risks.

Mr. G. Young emphasized that data centers are inevitable and that local governments face a choice between proactively managing their development or having them imposed without local input. He stated that engaging at this stage allows the parish to address concerns related to water usage, utility rates, environmental safeguards, and infrastructure impacts. He further expressed concern about population decline and the loss of young residents, arguing that strategic economic development is necessary to retain talent and stabilize the region. Mr. G. Young concluded by stating that opportunities may exist for incoming projects to assist with improvements to water systems and power infrastructure, and he reiterated his willingness to share information to the extent permitted.

Mr. Epperson was then recognized and asked clarifying questions regarding the scope of the proposed resolution. He inquired whether the Northwest Louisiana Finance Authority economic development finance term sheet applied to the City of Shreveport or solely to Caddo Parish. Administrator Bryant clarified that the resolution would apply to data centers located outside the city limits and was intended to allow the parish to compete for major economic development projects, similar to actions taken by neighboring jurisdictions. It was further explained that any projects within city limits would require separate action by the City of Shreveport. Mr. Epperson also asked about the status of city-level consideration and was advised that the matter would be addressed at an upcoming city meeting.

Mr. Epperson then spoke more broadly, stating that he was not opposed to technology and cited his own familiarity with modern devices. He emphasized the importance of including the community alongside government and business in the development process. He expressed concern that confidentiality agreements and limited public information create mistrust among constituents, particularly when project details appear in the media while elected officials are restricted from discussing them. He stressed that public understanding of terms such as "PILOT" and zoning processes is limited and that lack of information leads to confusion and opposition. Vice President Epperson stated that public education and transparency are essential to avoid misinformation and to build community support. He further expressed concern regarding notification distances for zoning changes and noted his prior efforts to expand notice requirements. Mr. Epperson stated that he could not support the resolution at this time, citing the need for additional public engagement and education, but indicated that he remained open to further information.

Mr. Jones was subsequently recognized and requested that representatives come forward to answer questions. He sought clarification regarding the existence of nondisclosure agreements and confirmed that he had not signed one related to the project. Mr. Jones then explained that resolutions of support for economic development initiatives are a customary part of a multi-step process and do not, by themselves, authorize construction or guarantee project approval. He emphasized that additional approvals from other entities, including the City of Shreveport, would still be required. Administrator Bryant confirmed that a favorable vote would not automatically result in the construction of a data center and that the resolution represented only one component of the overall approval process. He referenced prior economic development actions, including the parish's support for SLB, noting that similar resolutions had been adopted before full public disclosure was possible. He explained that limited disclosure was not intended to withhold information from the public, but rather to protect competitive positioning when multiple jurisdictions may compete for the same investment. Mr. Jones stated that the parish is sometimes required to take action within its scope even if the City of Shreveport has not yet completed its portion of a separate process. He observed that the city could ultimately reject a related project at a later meeting, while the parish resolution would still establish parameters that could apply to other qualifying projects outside the city limits. In response, counsel clarified that the resolution under consideration would not apply to the particular data center proposal presented the previous evening, and instead would set general terms for data center projects located outside the city limits, contingent upon meeting stated requirements. Mr. Jones stated for the record that he had not signed a nondisclosure agreement and asserted that he had not acted in secret. He emphasized that he viewed the resolution as an effort to help the parish pursue economic growth and noted concerns about population decline. He described himself as a member of a generation that experienced life both before and during rapid technological growth, and he expressed frustration that commissioners were being accused of improper conduct. He cautioned that failure to act could result in other parishes securing investment opportunities first. Mr. Jones stated that the parish's action would help position Caddo Parish to recruit economic development projects and support revenue growth for public entities, including schools and infrastructure needs. He referenced water quality concerns affecting residents, including himself, and stated that he supported the effort as a way to help drive change. Counsel confirmed that the resolution was specific to data centers and intended to position the parish competitively.

Mr. Busada further addressed the water-system component, explaining that Shreveport's water infrastructure was built for a larger population with projected growth, but the region has experienced decline. He stated that the system's size and fixed costs remain largely the same regardless of population, meaning fewer customers increase the cost burden on remaining ratepayers. He used an analogy of fixed maintenance costs in an apartment complex to explain that expanding the customer base helps distribute costs and reduces financial pressure on residents. He stated that attracting a major water customer would help offset the costs of maintaining the system and could save residents money over time.

Mr. Burrell was then recognized. He stated that the item came as a surprise to him and, while it appeared on the agenda the prior day, he had not had sufficient time to fully digest it. Mr. Burrell explained that he is detail-oriented and prefers to review matters thoroughly on behalf of his constituents. He asked what effect the resolution would have on the proposed data center project and stated that the discussion appeared focused on a data center rather than broader project financing. Administration clarified that the resolution was intended for any data center project and was not tied to a single specific site, but would apply to qualifying data center projects outside city limits. Mr. Burrell stated that he had familiarity with the Rayville data center development and had contacted officials there to gather information. He noted that public research reflects both potential benefits and concerns. Mr. Burrell stated that his primary concern involved water supply, particularly given existing water pressure issues and Cross Lake conditions, including ongoing needs related to dredging and historical infrastructure delays. He referenced past water pressure challenges affecting firefighting capacity and expressed concern about cumulative demands from other industrial users, including oil and gas operations. Mr. Burrell asked whether Cross Lake would serve as the primary water source for a facility under the resolution and requested information on whether studies had been conducted to ensure adequate supply for residents.

Mr. Brandon Snead, Director of Water and Sewer for the City of Shreveport, to address the questions. Mr. Snead distinguished between water used by some oil and gas operations and treated municipal distribution water, explaining that certain operations use untreated water drawn directly from Cross Lake or collected rainwater sources such as ponds, rather than treated water delivered through the city's distribution system. Mr. Burrell sought clarification that the source of water remains Cross Lake. Mr. Snead confirmed that Cross Lake is the source, and stated that the department had conducted months of modeling and study whenever a large water user is proposed. He explained that the city uses a water and sewer model incorporating valves, pumps, tanks, treatment systems, and the source supply to assess capacity and demand scenarios. Mr. Snead stated that the city can meet projected needs and has significant excess water capacity available for sale. He further stated that the department was working to improve public messaging and education on water system capacity, noting that he had spoken at the Metropolitan Planning Commission and would speak at the City Council if invited. He stated that silting occurs over time but that supply availability was not the limiting issue, and reiterated that current capacity exceeds need. Mr. Burrell stated that he was not opposed to economic development and affirmed support for such projects generally, but reiterated his concerns and the importance of addressing them publicly. During the discussion, additional remarks were made noting that in similar projects, companies may be required to fund and donate necessary infrastructure upgrades, such as equipment or water towers, to support increased demand. It was stated that discussions in similar contexts included provisions requiring companies to pay for and donate infrastructure improvements to the city, and that such improvements could lead to enhanced water pressure in areas near proposed development. Mr. Snead affirmed that infrastructure needs at higher demand levels had been discussed and that potential upgrades would be paid for by the company as applicable.

Mrs. Blake stated she is a lifelong resident of Caddo Parish and described the current economic climate as significantly different from the growth era of her childhood, noting decades of decline. She described the opportunity before the commission as significant and stated that the region functions largely as a service economy without sufficient technology-sector growth. Mrs. Blake spoke from the perspective of a long-time small business owner, describing the importance of new investment for local employers and for retaining young residents. She stated that while it is important to ensure questions are answered, it is also important that the Metropolitan Planning Commission and City Council understand the urgency and "desperation" for growth expressed by the commission. She emphasized the need to move forward, think creatively, and stop missing opportunities. Mrs. Blake stated she would continue to advocate for business and community growth and reiterated that there was nothing being hidden. She stated her support for the resolution.

Mr. Cothran was then recognized. He requested that Justin Dixon publicly explain his organization, its role, and how it conducts business, stating that misconceptions about secrecy persist. Mr. Cothran referenced prior commission actions supporting projects such as SLB and other economic development initiatives. He stated that key concerns he continued to hear related to water and electricity, as well as public safety for nearby constituents. He noted that although he did not observe many constituents from his district present, he emphasized his responsibility to represent residents and requested clear explanation of what the commission was voting for or against.

Mr. Justin Dixon introduced himself as President and CEO of the North Louisiana Economic Partnership, describing it as a private organization supported primarily by businesses and individuals, with the mission of recruiting well-paying jobs and capital investment to Northwest Louisiana. He stated that during his tenure of approximately four and a half years, the organization, working with partners including the parish, has supported several major projects. He cited Amazon's fulfillment center and stated that job growth there exceeded original commitments. He referenced SLB's redevelopment of the former GM facility and stated that current employment exceeded initial commitments with well-paying jobs and benefits. He also referenced FiberBond and Prolec GE expansions, noting job increases and the relationship to industries supporting data center infrastructure. Mr. Dixon stated that in total these efforts contributed to growth of approximately 4,000 jobs in the region. He stated that a data center would generate substantial short-term construction employment and meaningful long-term employment, including positions attainable with two-year certifications and training through local community colleges. He further stated that workforce participation would primarily come from the region, based on studies discussed, and emphasized that the jobs would benefit local residents. Mr. Dixon then deferred to counsel for explanation of the specifics of the resolution.

Mr. Busada then stated his professional background as a practicing attorney with Butler Snow, with a practice focused on project finance and municipal bond finance across Louisiana. He stated that his work involves negotiating agreements to secure the best outcome for local communities while ensuring incentives are not excessive. Mr. Busada stated he was proud of the agreement framework, describing it as among the most community-beneficial data center incentive packages in the country, and expressed confidence in its value to the community.

Mr. J. Young stated that, although he had not received prior access to the term sheet, he had reviewed it during the course of the discussion and found it to be consistent with typical PILOT term sheets, with customizations reflecting data center job and property value metrics. Mr. J. Young asked whether additional requirements could be included in the final PILOT agreement. Specifically, Mr. J. Young referenced language stating that the term sheet would be subject to additional terms and conditions negotiated into a final PILOT agreement, and requested that the agreement include a requirement for educational meetings with impacted communities, consistent with concerns previously raised about public information and engagement. Mr. Busada confirmed his commitment to ensuring that educational meeting requirements would be included and acknowledged that multiple meetings may be necessary. He described similar experiences in other parishes, including agricultural communities, where residents supported diversification and new industry while seeking assurances regarding environmental protections and continued viability of existing land uses. Mr. Busada stated that data centers are generally among the cleanest industrial developments, describing them as facilities primarily consisting of computers and cooling systems, without chemical manufacturing processes. He stated that companies typically seek to be good community partners, cited examples of community investments and workforce development, and described instances where large construction projects supported local food service providers to supply worker meals.

Mr. J. Young asked two additional questions. First, he asked whether the project would be required to comply with zoning rules, and Mr. Busada responded that it would. Second, Mr. J. Young inquired about sustainability measures, including the potential for solar panels on large rooftops and opportunities to harvest rainwater given local rainfall. Mr. Busada responded that, while rooftop solar could not be confirmed, data center companies have historically entered long-term solar purchase agreements and pursue offsets where possible. Mr. J. Young requested that rainwater capture be considered in negotiated terms to address drainage and potential flooding impacts on surrounding neighborhoods.

Call for the Question by Mr. Lazarus, seconded by Mrs. Blake. Motion carried, as shown by the following roll call votes: AYES: Commissioners Atkins, Blake, Burrell, Epperson, Gage-Watts, Jones, Lazarus, Thomas, G. Young, and J. Young (10). Mr. Thomas noted the emotional impact of the incident, particularly given that the residents were asleep and unaware of the danger, and stated his desire for Mr. Iverson’s actions to serve as an example to the broader community. Mr. Iverson was invited to share his account of the incident.

Mr. Iverson explained that he initially believed someone nearby was burning wood but quickly realized the glow indicated a house fire. ADMINISTRATION REPORT Administrator Bryant announced an upcoming parish food distribution scheduled for December 20, maintaining the same times and locations as prior events. Commissioners were advised to notify administration promptly if any changes were requested to allow sufficient time for public notice.

She also expressed appreciation to parish departments and staff for their coordinated efforts related to the opening of the Walter B. Jacobs Nature Center. Communications, Facilities and Maintenance, Parks staff, Finance Administration, and Public Works were recognized for their contributions, including logistical support during inclement weather. Administration reported that the event was successful and well received.

During the report period, Commissioners requested that Mr. Clarke come forward. Mr. Thomas used the opportunity to formally acknowledge Mr. Clarke during what was noted as his final Commission meeting prior to retirement. Mr. Thomas thanked Mr. Clarke for his many years of service, professionalism, and guidance, particularly regarding adherence to parish regulations and development standards. Several Commissioners joined in expressing appreciation for Mr. Clarke's expertise, mentorship, patience, and dedication throughout his tenure.

Mr. Clarke addressed the Commission, reflecting on his years of service and expressing gratitude for the support he received from the Commission through both challenging and successful periods. He noted the progress achieved during his leadership, the importance of the Commission's role in parish governance, and his pride in representing Caddo Parish both locally and nationally. Mr. Clarke described his service as an honor and expressed appreciation for the relationships formed during his career.

Administrator Bryant also reported that the Parish had recently undergone a bond rating review and successfully maintained its AA+ bond rating. Administration acknowledged staff efforts involved in responding to detailed inquiries during the process and expressed appreciation for the work completed to support the favorable outcome.

Mr. J. Young congratulated administration on the successful grand opening event earlier in the day and requested that a meeting be scheduled in January with project architects to review and discuss the pickleball complex design, allowing Commissioners the opportunity to provide input. Administrator Bryant confirmed the request would be accommodated.

Mr. Cothran requested clarification regarding tax-related matters previously discussed. Administrator Bryant explained that the matter involved a Payment in Lieu of Taxes (PILOT) agreement, which provides for a reduction in assessed property taxes based on job creation rather than a full tax exemption. It was further clarified that under the approved resolution, the PILOT agreement would extend for a term of twenty-five years, with tax revenues still distributed among taxing authorities.

COMMUNIQUE & COMMITTEE REPORTS

Commissioner comments continued with remarks recognizing a community-based initiative involving Representative Daryl “Joy” Walters and an event held at Angola that supported family connection and community restoration. Commissioners emphasized the importance of programs that assist individuals in re-entering society and promote healing in difficult circumstances. One Commissioner shared personal reflections on the significance of such moments and expressed interest in working with Representative Walters in the future.

Mr. Burrell also congratulated Representative Walters, noting that he viewed the program as meaningful and impactful, particularly for children with incarcerated parents. Mr. Burrell then requested additional clarification from administration regarding Resolution No. 48 and the associated PILOT (Payment in Lieu of Taxes) program. Administrator Bryant explained that the resolution established terms for the PILOT framework related to data center projects, and that while the framework had been approved, additional actions could be required depending on future circumstances and any separate items that may require Commission approval. She advised that there would be a process to determine any next procedural steps should a data center project proceed under the outlined terms. Mr. Burrell further discussed potential scenarios in which related matters could return before the Commission, including appeals involving parish zoning or special use processes, and contrasted parish procedure with processes occurring within the City through the MPC and City Council.

Mr. Jones offered acknowledgments and announcements. He thanked Mr. Randall and Juvenile Services for stepping in during a previous food distribution event when he was unexpectedly unable to attend due to a funeral obligation. He also thanked staff for ensuring the site remained organized for collection and cleanup. Mr. Jones further praised Parks and Recreation and commended the successful opening of the Walter B. Jacobs Nature Center, describing the facility as a significant improvement and an investment that would benefit residents, schools, and visitors. He expressed enthusiasm for future educational and recreational use.

Mr. Jones announced an upcoming listening session hosted by the Louisiana Task Force on Fatherhood Engagement scheduled for Saturday, December 6 at 11:00 a.m. at the Goodwill location at 800 West 70th Street, inviting fathers and father figures from surrounding parishes to participate. He emphasized the importance of supporting entire families and creating safe spaces for men to engage in meaningful dialogue and development. Mr. Jones also congratulated summer program participant Nevin Oliver on his upcoming graduation from ULM and recognized the Parish’s investment in youth workforce development. He additionally thanked Representative Walters for her leadership and noted the positive impact the father-daughter initiative had on families in the community.

It was noted that the Commission President had stepped out and, therefore, a President’s Report would not be presented.

CITIZENS COMMENTS (LATE ARRIVALS)

Francis Kelly came before the Commission and gave the following comment:

Hi, good evening. Thank you. I'm here because I'm very concerned. Oh, my name and address. Francis Kelly, 935 Linden Street, Shreveport, Louisiana. I'm very concerned. I don't know what exactly the resolution was that was passed today. I understand it was added to the agenda at the last minute, and I came here as soon as I could. And this room was packed last night with people that are very concerned about data centers, very concerned about the economic impact, our natural resources, pollution, just like what this impact could be on our community as a whole because of how massive these projects are and the impacts we've seen in other communities around the country. I don't , again, know exactly how this resolution fits into the proposed project by an entity that we don't even know who the end user will be. Everything is under NDAs, and there's just a lot of distrust in the community because there hasn't been transparency around it and I don't know, again, what role the Commission plays in this, but, you know, seeing just briefly now the text of the resolution saying that, you know, data centers are a great thing and we should be trying to make it easier for them to come here, when they create very few permanent jobs and use massive amounts of water and electricity. And there was huge opposition here last night in this very room. Every community member that spoke was in opposition. Just very, very real concerns. And so, I really want, you know, this Commission to kind of explain to the public, people would be here if they had known about it. Again, like I found out at the very last minute, and of course, I was here for three and a half hours last night along with, you know, I mean this whole room was full. Just to understand what's happening and to say that like we need to be really careful with these kinds of things. And there is, you know, potentially an economic bubble with all of this AI stuff. Like, nobody's really made any money off of it yet. There's a lot of companies like investing in each other and moving stuff around. And so, if something gets built and then that company goes out of business and we're left with the long-term impacts of that, I mean, I think there are really very real legitimate concerns about this and the citizens deserve to understand what's going on and we really need to have a longer conversation about the potential impacts of this. I mean, we were told last night it would be the second biggest thing to ever happen in Louisiana if this center gets built. And that's really scary to just like go into that without having a real democratic process where the community is informed. We look at the facts, we talk to experts, and we really take our time to make a good decision. So, I know the timing of this, the timing of last night, like I don't know how connected they are, but, you know, the fact that it wasn't on the agenda and then it was, I know it's a resolution, but I'm really concerned. I'm really concerned about, you know, these massive tax exemptions that I understand are state law and just like what is the impact going to be on the long term. So, I guess what I'm asking for is could there be further discussion? Could be there be an opportunity for citizens to come and like ask questions to understand what's going on to share like our perspectives, which are really well-informed. So that's what I wanted to ask for. Thank you.

Abby Whittington came before the Commission and gave the following comment:

Abby Whittington, 654 Columbia Street. I just want to say thank you, Mr. Epperson and Kracman, for voting no and having a backbone, other than everyone else that's sitting here still. I don't know how many people need to come here to let y'all know, thank you for leaving in the middle of this, by the way, that this is not going to be good for our community and we don't want this. Like she said, so many people were here last night, and this wasn't even on the agenda until 20 minutes beforehand. What are y'all going to do to let the community members know what's coming to their community? I don't even have much to say other than most of you have failed at your jobs today. Thank you.

There being no further business to come before the Commission, the meeting adjourned at 6:07 p.m.
