Annual festival at Earl G. Williams Park in Oil City will include fireworks, photos with Santa, food vendors, arts and crafts vendors, live music and more.

OIL CITY, LA – The Christmas on Caddo Fireworks Festival is celebrating 30 years of holiday entertainment on Saturday, Dec. 7 at Earl G. Williamson Park in Oil City located on Hwy 1. The festivities will begin at 1 p.m. with a wide variety of food vendors, arts and crafts vendors, children’s activities and live music. This year’s fireworks are being presented by Pyromania Fireworks, LLC .

Christmas on Caddo was created to promote the Christmas spirit of joy and giving to the very deserving communities in Northwest Louisiana. “We have between 8 and 10,000 people that attend the festival every year,” said Casey Hartley, Vice President of Christmas on Caddo. “We truly pride ourselves on giving all attendees, traveling near and far, a Christmas experience that is free. It would be impossible to accomplish that without the faithful, long-term sponsors’ contributions.” The event is sponsored by local individuals, businesses, and organizations.

Headlining this year’s live entertainment is The Crowd. This Shreveport band covers various music genres that include country and rock. The band is scheduled to perform multiple sets before and after the fireworks.

Festivalgoers will have the opportunity to shop the wide selection of arts and crafts and feast on fair-styled foods such as gumbo, red beans and rice, Cajun chili, and more.

Children can visit with Santa to share their holiday wish list and receive a free gift from him. Other children’s activities include bounce houses, face painting and more.
